O'SHAUGNESSY DAM MARKS NEW EPOCH

RESERVOIR GREATEST WEST OF CHICAGO SAYS ENGINEER

FORMAL DEDICATION ATTENDED BY MANY

Structure Provides For the Future Needs of Water and Power.—Total Cost In Excess of Six and a Half Millions.

O'Shaughnessy Dam, Hetch Hetchy.—The ceremonies marking the formal delivery to the city and county of San Francisco of the O'Shaughnessy Dam by the Utah Construction company brought city and county officials, engineers and experts, and Californians from many miles. The dedication marks the completion of the greatest engineering project ever undertaken in the west and one of the greatest in the world.

The ceremonial program consisted of speeches by W. H. Wattis, president of the Utah Construction company, who delivered the dam over to President Timothy A. Reardon of the San Francisco Board of Public Works. Wattis told of the accomplishment of the structure, step by step from the time the contract was awarded his company, July 8, 1914.

President Reardon accepted the dam on behalf of the city and county of San Francisco in a formal manner, and then Mayor Rolph spoke at length, reviewing briefly the history of the Hetch Hetchy project. City Engineer O'Shaughnessy, in honor of whom the dam was named, was the chief speaker of the day, for it befell his lot to tell of work in which he played such a prominent part.

The whole floor of the valley was entirely cleared of timber in two operations, the first in 1915 and the second in 1921-22.

The present dam, built in the shape of an arch, with a 700-foot radius, at the bottom of the foundation is at an elevation of 3,386.

The bottom valve elevation is 3,503; initial crest elevation 3,720; length of crest, 900 feet; storage capacity, 96,000,000,000 gallons; drainage area, 394,000 acres; reservoir area, 1,500 acres; total concrete volume, 398,967 cubic yards; excavation, 207,922 cubic yards.

The entire contract estimate of the Utah Construction company is $6,114,-884.86.

The contract price for valves made in San Francisco, Philadelphia and Boston, is $532,707.48, which makes a total of $6,647,856.34.

LAUSANNE PARLEY ENDS IN VICTORY FOR TURK ENVOYS

Lausanne.—The near east conference is over. Complete agreement on all points at issue was reached and a treaty concluding the conference will be signed within a week. In the end the Turk scored an apparent complete victory. Details of the agreement remain to be adjusted, which include the allied military evacuation of Constantinople, beginning immediately upon the ratification of the agreement by the Angora assembly and to be concluded in six weeks after that time. The allies will return all arms, ammunition and ships captured from the Turk during the war. Foreign concessions granted in Turkey before the war are safeguarded.

The signing of the Lausanne conference treaty will mark the last act of the World war, which began August 2, 1914.

Italy to Take a Hand

Rome.—Italy's participation in the Ruhr muddle is seen in the conference between the German ambassador, Neurath, and Senator Contratini, general secretary of foreign affairs. The Italian press declares that Italy adheres to Mussolini's policy that Germany should have a reasonable moratorium, and linking the reparations questions with the problems of settlement of inter-allied debts.

Nevada Volstead Law Dead

Reno.—Nevada is without a state prohibition enforcement agency as a result of the Supreme court action in holding the Whiteley act to be unconstitutional. The Whiteley act purported to enact the Volstead act by reference as the law of Nevada, and the court declared that the title was fatally defective because it did not express the subject matter of the law itself.

Chicago In Bucketshop Drive

Chicago.—State's Attorney Crowe has begun an attempt to send officials of fifty Chicago "bucket-shop" brokerage houses to the penitentiary. He has placed evidence before the grand jury to show that the brokers are swindling customers out of more than $50,000,000 annually.

HISTORIC MINING CAMP DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Goldfield, Nevada, Loses Business Section In $1,000,000 Blaze When Water Supply Fails.—Famous Structures Burned.

Goldfield, Nev.—Something of the poetic tragedy of the desert lies under the blackened embers of Goldfield—Goldfield, which dropped back into the wastes of the purple hills as suddenly as it sprang into being. What was one time the largest gold camp in the west, with 30,000 inhabitants, became a maelstrom of flame, which swept before a raging wind, rapidly licked up the business section of the city and hundreds of homes, shanties and deserted shacks.

The main buildings surviving the fire are the hospital, railroad station, old John S. Cook bank building, Goldfield hotel, postoffice and Elks' club. The remainder of the business section was cleaned out. The fire is attributed to an incendiary. The damage is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The fire originated in the Brown-Parker garage, where forty automobiles were burned.

A group of miners' shacks on the outskirts of the town are being rehabilitated under the direction of a relief committee, which is looking after the homeless. The Elks' club is also aiding in this work.

A wandering prospector years ago, caught in the desert and lost, fell to the ground in exhaustion and pawed the dirt aimlessly. Then his eyes glittered, he rubbed the rocks in his hands, jumped to his feet, frantic with joy. In his hands he held gold. He struggled on to safety and the gold rush started. Goldfield sprang up overnight, a mushroom mining camp of the west.

LIBEL CASE EDITOR STIRS NEW MEXICO IN ATTACKS

Albuquerque.—Governor Hinkle has declined to interfere in the Carl E. Magee libel case until the Supreme court has acted upon his appeal.

Magee, publisher of the New Mexico State Tribune of this city and stormy petrel of state politics, is under sentence of from twelve to eighteen months at hard labor as a result of an editorial attack on a member of the state judiciary. The alleged libelous statement for which Magee was convicted was a reference to Judge Frank H. Parker of the state Supreme court in an editorial, charging misappropriation of state funds by the clerk of the court. He is also being sued for libel by J. H. Wagner, the president of the normal school, who asks $100,000 damages.

Meanwhile driving attacks upon alleged "state machine" which he says is "railroading" him to the penitentiary are being continued here in the State Tribune and in public speeches throughout New Mexico. The state is deeply stirred.

The governor announced receipt of a flood of messages from all over the state asking him to hold a special impeachment session of the legislature.

WOMAN JAILED AS LEADER OF MAILORDER DOPE RING

San Francisco.—Federal officers are confident that they have in the person of Mrs. Anna Patterson, the ringleader of a wholesale mailorder and direct sale dope ring, investigation of which has been in progress for some months and in which six men and women had already been arrested. The arrest of Mrs. Patterson is declared to be the most important of the entire investigation, as she is the asserted brains of the organization and was at liberty under $10,000 bonds at the time for alleged violations of the narcotic act.

The federal investigators were assisted by postal authorities in running down the mail order end of the ring, and it was through a Sacramento valley branch that the first delivery was detected.

Convict "Boss" Is Guilty

Lake City, Fla.—T. W. Higginbotham, "whipping boss" in the convict camp at Calar, was found guilty of the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota. The jury, after deliberating twenty-five minutes, found Higginbotham guilty of murder in the second degree, which carries a sentence of twenty years in the state penitentiary.

Restriction of Permits Illegal

Helena, Mont.—The United States District court here held illegal the sections of the federal prohibition enforcement act wheih limits the number of whisky prescriptions a physician may issue and the quantity he may prescribe for any one person in a given period, holding that patients are not alike, diseases and the dosage dissimilar, and not to be determined arbitrarily.

LIBRARY RECEIVING FINISHING TOUCHES

"Our" new library is fast coming to a stage where we can see something of what a delightful building it is going to be. We say our library, because it does belong to the people of the community in a very real sense.

The library and reading room are delightfully light and roomy with quantities of cases for boks, many of them now being assembled.

The social room is equally attractive and the kitchen a delight to any housewife.

It will make a delightful place for entertaining both for private parties and organizations, and it will be by the rental of this room that the expense of upkeep for the entire building will be met, if possible.

The stucco has been applied to the exterior and the interior plastered, so the finishing can go on rapidly.

There are still a few outstanding pledges that the committee would greatly appreciate having paid, so that payments for construction may be met promptly.

MANY REMEMBRANCES

Mrs. M. J. Wilson was the recipient of numerous birthday surprise gifts June 29th, from many friends, among which were beautiful flowers, cards with sincere sentiments, and a lovely birthday cake from the W. C. T. U., with a Frances Willard white ribbon inscription. There was also a remembrance from the County Executive Board of all Unions as well as others from friends in different parts of the state.

The surprise was received with many pleasant remembrances, and heartfelt appreciation.

P. & A. GROWERS ELECT NEW HEAD

Following a unanimous recommendation by three committees representing the directorate, voting board and growers of the Prune and Apricot Growers, Inc., A. M. Mortensen was elected general manager of the big concern. Mr. Mortensen has had wide experience in managing big business and his unanimous selection has cemented the organization into a solid working unit.

Mr. I. O. Rhoades, of Morgan Hill, is the new president of the association succeeding T. S. Montgomery who handed in his resignation June 4, because of his health. Mr. Rhoads has been a member of the voting board since 1921 and was chairman of the efficiency committee.

One of the desires of the growers was an early advance payment on fruit delivered to association plants and the directors have voted to make that payment on a 4 cent to pound basis for choice or better dried apricots for both Sunsweet and Growers brands. This will give the growers funds to carry-on for the season and comes as a great boon to all business.

G. MILLER FAMILY MOVES TO S. F.

Mrs. Geo. T. Miller and children, Margaret and Richard, left yesterday for San Francisco, where Mrs. Miller will have the management of the Sandwich Shop in the Larne Hotel. This shop is under the auspices of one of the women's federations and the offer made Mrs. Miller was very attractive.

Mrs. Miller had charge of the Grammar School Cafeteria after its opening and is otherwise experienced in this work, so that her success should be assured.

She will be greatly missed from both of the Parent-Teacher associations where she has been a very efficient officer and active worker. Mr. Miller will remain at Mountain View where he is interested in the insurance business.

CANNERIES BEGIN BUSY SEASON

The J. C. Ainsley Packing Co. began work Monday on apricots and the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. expect to begin today.

The California Canneries Co. has notified its help that work will start on the 20th possibly before. The very backward season has delayed the opening of the cannery work but there are a great number of workers from outside who have come already.

When the three plants are in full operation it promises to be the usual busy season.

The low price being paid for apricots has caused so many growers to dry them, that the supply has not begun to come in in quantities.

NEW CAFE OPENED

Mrs. Jas. Kelly and Mrs. E. E. Lanphear are in charge of the restaurant, last operated by Jas. McDougal and known as Mack's place. Mrs. W. C. Grizzle bought the building after Mr. McDougal's death, and it has been entirely renovated, rearranged and new fixtures installed.

With the opening, Monday, of the Hyde Cafeteria, Campbell will be well supplied with eating places, two cafeterias and three restaurnants.

Thru the activities of the Commercial association, Campbell will have the protection of a night watchman in the business section of town. This will aid in eliminating the petty thievery so prevalent in small towns of the valley during the busy fruit season.

ADELBERT CAMPBELL MARRIED AT FRESNO

At a very prettily arranged wedding last evening at 8:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Erskine on Huntington Boulevard, Miss Anne Dick, daughter of William Dick, became the bride of Adelbert Campbell, of Campbell, California. Dean G. R. E. MacDonald performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

The house was decorated beautifully with hydrangeas, Shasta daisies, dahlias and other seasonable flowers. An improvised altar was erected in the library and was covered with greenery and pink flowers. At each side were tall baskets of hydrangeas. Preceeding the ceremony, Miss Marguerite Cobbey sang "At Dawning" and "To Have, To Hold, To Love." She was accompanied by Miss Minna Fast who also played the wedding march.

The two bridesmaids entered the room first. Miss Mildred Giffen wore a beautiful green georgette dress trimmed with silver and with a silver band in her hair. Miss Frances Erskine had an equally lovely frock of maze color georgette, with trimmings of silver and a silver band in her hair, Both carried armfuls of Ophelia roses.

Miss Mary Hall, the maid of honor, was in pink georgette made over silk, and trimmed with white lace. Her bouquet was also of Ophelia roses.

The bride entered the room with her brother, William. She made a winsome picture with her wedding dress of white georgette made boufant, and trimmed with silver. Her long tulle veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. She and her attendants were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Grant W. Luckensmeyer, of Wheatland.

Following the ceremony and congratulations, buffet refreshments were served, the bride cutting her own wedding cake. Four friends of the bride assisted in serving. They were Misses Birdie Mittenthal, Beatrice Mittenthal, Helen Decker and Marian McKeighan.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left late in the evening, the latter wearing a charming sport suit, to motor to San Francisco where they will remain until late in the summer. They will then sail for Honolulu where Mr. Campbell has a position in the schools and plantation work.

Among those from out of town who came to the wedding last night were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Campbell and his sister, Mrs. L. E. Eddlemon, of Campbell, California and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson of Dinuba.

Delbert is one of the original Campbell family decendants and has made a success of his work. He has a host of friends here who join the Press in extending best wishes for him and his bride.

ARNOTT SASH MILL BURNED

Fire, Wednesday afternoon completely destroyed the Arnott planing mill located south of the Geo. E. Hyde & Co's. plant.

The first report was that the fire was in the cannery and from the volume of smoke and flames it seemed that the whole plant was doomed.

P. Arnott had been running some of the machinery when a hot box developed and fire fell into a pile of shavings. Mr. Arnott ran to secure an extinguisher but by that time the fire was beyond control, an dthe whole building, which was very dry and of open construction, was a mass of flames.

The mill had not been operated extensively for some time but is none the less a considerable loss to the Arnotts, and expressions of sympathy and regret for their misfortune were heard on all sides.

SOME DAY IT WILL COME

A flying flivver, which carries you sixty miles on a gallon of "gas" and can be manufactured in quantities at $400 apiece! It is being successfully demonstrated in our country by George Bargot, its French inventor. Compare with the cost of driving a car. Barbot's baby plane weighs only four hundred pounds. It is shipped "in the knockdown"—came from France in a crate. It's tiny motor is twelve horse power. But it's powerful. Barbot claims it can climb more than a mile up into the air in thirty minutes. This baby plane carries only one passenger. A machine to carry more would be a simple matter of multiplication. Barbot's plane has tapering dragonfly wings, braced internally to cut down the air resistance. These wings have a spread of only forty feet. That's about the width of the garage, you'd require. Later on, the inventors probably will discover how to do away with wings entirely. Seems bobly will discover how to do away with wings entirely. Seems impossible. It once seemed equally impossible, the idea of an ocean-going shsip without sails. Only the wild visionaries in those days pictured anything like a ship propelled by steam engine and screwn. Barbot's baby plane may or may not turn the trick, but it's just a matter of time until the flying flivver will take the place of the auto as the main vehicle of transportation. The auto, of course, will continue in widespread use in the Air Age, like the horse in the Auto Age. But the real roads of the future will be in the air. No paying taxes! No tire bills! Before the airplane can come into general use, it must be cheap. Barbot demonstrates cheapness is possible. It must also be able to rise and descend in a straight up-and-down line. The heliocopter machine is the key to this. The universal auto also must be fool proof. Some invention like the gyroscope will prevent its falling, even when stalled in the air. It is not beyond probability that our descendents, when their planes stall in the air, will have to use rope ladders to get down to earth, under certain conditions of machinery out of order.

SWAT THE FLY!

Now is the time to swat the fly.

However, there is more than one way to do it. The use of the swatter is one; fly paper is another; and fly traps still another. But the best way to swat the fly is to eliminate the sources of the trouble to get rid of the fly's breeding places.

To kill the fly with the swatter is work well done, but to stop the breeding of millions early in the game is a service to the community.

One fly under a swatter now equals a whole trapful in midsummer. But if Mrs. Fly can't find her favorite open garbage pail in which to hatch her eggs, her posterity is doomed.

Just because there is a few flies now is a poor excuse for failure to swat. A start can't be made too early, because a swat in time saves not nine, but millions.

COME BACK TO EARTH

Dr. Melvin Brown, chancellor of the University of Montana, truly said in an address before the Northwest Association of secondary and high schools that a stronger effort to "teach people to think straight" is needed in the high schools. Not only there, but in the colleges as well, the ability to think straight and weigh evidence is exceptional rather than general.

Keep your eye on the unemployed boy. He needs something to work off that surplus energy, and if he gets into devilment somebody is not doing their duty by him.

Lots of folks are experts at dodging automobiles, but the fellow who can sidestep his taxes is an expert indeed.

RECORD LUMBER SHIPMENTS

On one day recently, 5,560,000 ft. of lumber was shipped by ocean steamer from the port of Tacoma. In three days a total of 8,650,000—a new record in lumber shipments.

The lumber was not consigned to American ports. Over 2,000,000 ft. of it was loaded for San Pedro, another 1,000,000 ft. for the Orient, and heavy consignments to Australia and other ports. While this enormous shipment was being made to foreign ports, the American market was being supplied from the output of 150 sawmills and woodworking factories in the district, with record shipments over four transcontinental lines.

The usual activity of the lumber market reveals that not only America, but practically the entire world, has again taken up the task of building where it was left off eight years ago during the world war.

Lumber is the cheapest and most universal home building material today.

THE SPIRIT OF WORK IN CAMPBELL

SHE was an old lady, past sixty, spending a first summer in Campbell. The thrill of the whistles, morning noon and evening, stirred her with excitement, and the streams of workers converging at the packing houses aroused her curiosity.

"I'm going to get a job in the cannery," she told her husband. He only laughed, thinking that she joked. But she got her job. She worked as a packer all season and had the time of her life, and she wrote the folks in Maine about it. Those home people back there could not understand at all. Working—in a packing house! They talked about it in parlors and across back fences; it was a nine days' wonder back in Maine.

It is the spirit of work in Campbell—the dignity of labor, time-honored theory, spun out to endless lengths in books, become an actuality in Campbell. Few are the families in our Orchard City who have not at some time contributed one or more workers to the canning industry. Wives have worked and helped to save money to buy homes; children have relieved their parents of part of the financial burden; young people going to college have earned in vacation, part or all of their expenses—all to high ends. "Common labor" has been lifted to an uncommonly high plane in Campbell.

So the whistles and the streams of busy workers are with us again. Your bank is here as usual to do its part. There will be pay checks for us to cash, and checking accounts and savings accounts to care for. We are glad to have a share in this fine spirit of work. We are particularly glad when we see the earnings of the summer applied in a way that gives the worker some permanent benefit.

If I Were a Busy Housekeeper

I would shop early and avoid the rush, these busy days.

I would, if I lived in or near town and shopped by telephone, make it a point to call up the store, for a morning order, by half past nine—rarely later than ten. That would give the clerks plenty of time to have my order assembled and delivered before the rush in the store near noon. I would give my afternoon order by half past three, to be well ahead of the rush from five to six.

I would try to remember, particularly, that late orders on my part tend to delay delivery of goods to my neighbors, who have ordered earlier.

I would go up town, if I shopped in person, as often as possible before eleven in the morning and before five in the afternoon. In that way I would avoid the crowds from the packing houses and not lose time in awaiting my turn.

I would try to remember that those of my family who are working for wages have ravenous appetites. So I would serve good hearty meals.

I wouldn't take a chance of being caught unprepared; so I would stock my pantry shelves with such things as canned beans, canned peas, canned salmon, corn, soup, oysters, minced clams and anything else I could think of that is good. Thus I would never be "stumped" for lack of eatables in the house.

I would keep posted on the best staples to buy. For instance, I would buy Isleton butter because of its purity and excellent keeping qualities, Blaine's Steel-Cut Coffee because it is an economy, and both because of their high grade and fine flavor.

I would trade at Blaine's Store because of the enterprise there, and of the effort made to please me.

CAMPBELL W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with a membership in the United States of nearly half a million God-fearing, home-loving women has planned a definite campaign with this for its slogan, "Help us Hold the Volstead Law."

A pleasant and interesting meeting of Campbell Union was held on the 9th, inst. with Mrs. C. H. Whitman, presided over by the president, Mrs. M. J. Wilson.

A report of the county Executive Board meeting was given by Mrs. Wilson. A letter from State Headquarters told of honors that has been conferred upon California by the appointment of Mrs. Kathleen Norris, Califonia's popular author, and Mrs. Paul Raymond as members of the National Committee of Law Enforcement, of which Mrs. Peabody of Massachusetts, president of the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions is chairman. Among other organizations represented on the committee are: the General Federation of Woman's Clubs; National P. T. A.; National W. C. T. U.; the International Order of Kings Daughters; Daughters of the American Revolution; the American Legion Auxiliary; the National Council of Women and the Y. W. C. A., an aggregation of 10,000,000 members made up of a portion of America's choicest womanhood. "The Association Against the Volstead Act," organized to get the Volstead Act out of the law and keep it out, calling for a million members at one dollar a year has taken for its slogan, "Help Us Repeal the Volstead Law". The National W. C. T. U. issues this call. "Join the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, work for new members, wear the white ribbon and tell what it stands for."

The beautiful welcoming service was used when Mrs. C. H. Davidson and Mrs. Carleton Walker were cordially received into the Campbell Union.

Mrs. Wilson expressed heartfelt thanks for her recent delightful birthday surprise of cards, flowers, fruit and gifts including a birthday cake from the W. C. T. U.

A social hour and light refreshments were then enjoyed. All who had secured new members were urged to send "Posey cards" to Headquarters to be forwarded to Miss Gordon as a birthday gift.

NEW MERCHANT DIES

A very sad death occurred Wednesday, when Mr. Harry Spence, a very recent arrival in Campbell, was found dead in his rooms at the Alpha Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence had just opened a vegetable and fruit department in the Gilson Market and began business Tuesday.

When Mrs. Spence returned to their rooms at noon Wednesday she found that her husband had succumbed to a heart attack. Mr. Spence was afflicted with heart trouble, but there were no premonitions of his impending death.

Mrs. Spence has a sister in Oregon, otherwise she is quite alone in the west. She is a very pleasant lady to meet, and has the deep sympathy of Campbell in her sorrow.

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Farr and three youngest children have gone on a camping trip to the southern part of the state leaving Monday. They expect to be gone over two Sundays, but regular services will be held at the Methodist church during the absence of the pastor.

C. E. De Selle went to Santa Cruz Saturday where Mrs. De Selle and children have been spending some time at their cottage. W. T. Alexander accompanied him and they went fishing, but, we've heard no fish.

The Jaws of a Serpent.

Because the jaws of a snake are not consolidated, but united by elastic ligaments, so that they are capable of great expansion, the snake is able to swallow an animal bigger than itself. But the bones of the head are very hard, and it is a mistake for a man caught in the coils of an anaconda or a boa to try to smash the reptile's skull. Doctor Stepner, an expert, says that the thing for him to do under such circumstances, if he can possibly manage it, is to strike at the serpent's tail, which is the sensitive part of its anatomy. If sharply hit in that quarter it will relinquish its grip. But, in truth, a man has little chance in combat with one of those big snakes, unless he has a hunting knife.

Ruins of Old Convent.

On St. Margaret island, a well-known summer resort in the Danube, near Budapest, excavations have just disclosed the ruins of a Dominican convent founded in the Fourteenth century. In the center of the ruins a flower garden has been uncovered. At the corner there appears to have been a fountain, surmounted with four bulls' heads. It is intended to restore these ruins. There has also been traced in the neighborhood of this convent the remains of a church of Premonstratensian monks dating from before the invasion of Hungary by the Tartars in 1241. These ruins, which have been covered with earth by successive floodings of the Danube, will be taken in hand and restored as far as possible.

"INTERNATIONAL BANKER" A MYTH

Otto H. Kahn Refutes Idea That Foreign Finance Activities Dull Allegiance to America.

BANKING REFLECTS BUSINESS

"International Farmer" and Other Business Men Who Sell to Foreign Markets Create Demand for International Financial Service.

The idea that bankers engaged in financing foreign trade and in handling foreign bond flotations are a particular cult of "international bankers" actuated by motives differing from those of other bankers was refuted recently by Otto H. Kahn of New York, in an address before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

"There is no such thing as an 'International Banker' in America, as the meaning of the term is generally understood," Mr. Kahn said. "He exists in the imagination of people all too numerous, but he does not exist in the flesh. You might just as well speak of the 'International Farmer' because the farmer sells a certain percentage of his crops to Europe, or of the 'International Manufacturer.'

"The banker maintains, and can maintain, international contact, and conduct international business, only to the extent that American industry, commerce and agriculture are international. True, the banker must take within his purview continuously the conditions of affairs and the current of things throughout the world, but so must the exporter and importer, and so must the farmer take into account the prices and tendencies of the world market in Liverpool.

Banking Mostly Home Business

"The American banker's market is the home market. His success is conditioned upon the capacity and willingness of the American investor to absorb the securities which he offers. His very existence depends upon the confidence and co-operation of the public and of his fellow-bankers—and any banker whose activities would justly create the impression that he was actuated by cosmopolitan rather than by American interests would very soon lose that confidence and following.

"The business which he does for his own account in, with, or for Europe, is inconsiderable as compared to the business he does in America. His principal functions in relation to Europe are to provide the requisite banking facilities for export and import and for travelers. That part of his functions which consists in financing loans of foreign governments or industries has hitherto been, with sporadic exceptions, of relatively inconsiderable proportions as compared to the vastness of the volume of his transactions in financing American industry, commerce and enterprise.

Necessity for Foreign Credits

"In saying this, I do not mean to imply that there is anything that calls for apology in the floating of foreign loans in America and in the loaning of American funds to Europe, provided such loans are considered sound as to security and are made for legitimate, constructive purposes. Indeed, such loans ought to, and I believe will, be made in increasing measure, when conditions in Europe will have become such as to warrant it.

"It is manifest that the promotion of our export trade, including, of course, the export of farm products, requires us, under the circumstances as they now are and are likely to remain for some time, to aid the purchasing power of other nations by extending to them financial facilities to a reasonable extent.

"It is the function of the banker to be instrumental in carrying out such transactions. In doing so, he is the means of serving a useful national purpose, just as he served a useful, indeed a highly important national purpose, in being the means of attracting and bringing European capital to America in former years when conditions were reversed and such capital was nothing less than vital to the development of this country and the realization of its opportunities."

FOR SOUND MONEY

Senator Oddie of Nevada, chairman of the United States Senate commission to investigate the problems of gold and silver mining, has allayed the fear that Western Senators, in their zeal to aid the cause of silver, might launch an unsound money wave. "I am for sound money," Senator Oddie says. "There is no thought of bimetalism or departing from the gold standard. We desire to help the great mining industry, but not through the creation of an unsound currency."

The commission is to study and report on the causes of the continuing decrease in the production of gold and silver; the causes of the depressed condition of the gold and silver mining industry in the United States; the production, reduction, refining, transportation, marketing, sale, and uses of gold and silver in the United States and elsewhere; and the effect of the decreased production of gold and silver upon commerce, industry, exchange and prices.

Thousands of tests in our laboratories and on the road have shown conclusively that Zerolene, which is made from carefully selected Western Naphthenic Base Crude, transported in separate pipe lines to our refineries and then refined by our exclusive high-vacuum process, forms less carbon, gives greater gasoline mileage, and reduces friction and wear to a greater extent than any other automobile lubricant we have seen and tested or been able to produce.
